

Courtesy Call

Arabian Gulf University

Faculty from Arabian Gulf University visited Juntendo University.

Juntendo University CEO OGAWA Hideoki and Arabian Gulf University President Dr. Khalid A. N. Al Ohaly and other representatives from Juntendo University and Arabian Gulf University.

Arabian Gulf University representatives, President Dr. Khalid A. N. Al Ohaly, College of Medicine and Medical Sciences Dean Dr. Khaldoon Al-Roomi, and Clinical Affairs Department Consultant Dr. Adel M. Medhkour, visited Juntendo University on March 22, 2013. The guests were greeted by Juntendo University CEO OGAWA Hideoki, President KOMINAMI Eiki, Faculty of Medicine Dean ARAI Hajime, Department of Neurology Professor HATTORI Nobutaka, and Department of Plastic Surgery Associate Professor TANAKA Rica. On the previous day, Arabian Gulf University and Juntendo University signed a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with His Royal Highness Salman bin Hamad bin Isa Al-Khalifa of the Kingdom of Bahrain in attendance. The MOU was agreed upon in order to promote research, education, and exchange programs. Juntendo University arranged the courtesy call in response to Arabian Gulf University's request to view Juntendo University's facilities. During the courtesy call, Arabian Gulf University expressed their interest in sending their students and doctors to Juntendo University to gain experience in clinical and surgical treatment of lifestyle diseases and other diseases. Further discussions included the requirements needed for doctors to become specialists in surgery and the volume of academic papers expected from both graduate students and faculty. After the discussion, the guests viewed Juntendo University's academic, administrative, and hospital facilities. The courtesy call marked the first official visit from the Arabian Gulf University at Juntendo University. ■